HITLER EXECUTED

Surprised In Dungeon Beneath Main Building; Shot At Once

Adolph Hitler, the man who rose to the throne of Germany more than eight years ago, and later rose to threaten and disrupt the peace of the world, was slain tonight by a hardy group of Clemson college seniors in and isolated corner of the Main building.

Herry Hitler, who had been branded as the greatest threat to democracy since (Kaiser) Bill, was murdered point blank. A cadet firing squad, headed by one William T. (not) McCoy, found the culprit in the foyer of the main building tonight about nine o'clock and instantly applied the lead to his unworthy carcass.

Details of the slaying were not immediately known. It was definitely established, however, that Herr Hitler was at Clemson to rally the members of Alpha Chi Sigma, a well known suction crew, behind his cause.

It has been known that Alpha Chi Sigma was an un-Clemson, Un-American crew, but it was not known that they were un-enough to fall behind the cause of Herr Hitler.

Willie McCoy, the leader of the assassin crew, was jubilant tonight. Said Willie, "For several years, I have known that this man Hitler was not in accord with my way of life. He was not a man of my liking, but when I learned that the Germans had been rationed on their beer, I determined to have my stooges murder the bum on sight. That is all that we did."

Funeral services for the slain furor have not been arranged. However, McCoy, the hero of the occasion said that he would probably be buried in a Baptism of fire—the fire which he loved so well.

Significance of the assassination could also not be immediately learned, but late this afternoon a Clemson senior was seen in the office of a prominent industrial company—so it is presumed by this rag that all Clemson seniors will be able to resume their peaceful pursuit of a job and the right to win the hand of the girl they have chosen since the great disturber of peace has been eliminated.

EXECUTED:—The long anticipated execution of Adolph Hitler, the rat, is grafically depicted in the above exclusive camera shot by the Tiger staff soon as a firing squad could be assembled. His last words were, "Tell my mother I died with a smile on my face. If she don't believe it, show her the picture." As the five shots rang out Hitler slumped to the floor with a cry of "Oh hell, I knew it would happen, but to be killed by Americans is too much. I die of humiliation, not bullets." To which our photographer quipped, "Oh yeah?" (Clever, wasn't he?) Note the arm raised in a weak salute, the last in the life of the Brute of the damn thing went out.

FEATURES:—Shown above are the members of the cast of the burlesque show to be featured in the Artist Series tonight as they appeared during a police raid in Cincinnati. They sprang into the spotlight when their star, Dorothy Amour, shown below, totally wrecked the Cincinnati city hall. Using only a pair of brass nucks, two black jacks, and an empty milk bottle, Dorothy completely subdued the police force in ten minutes flat. She really is rough, and should be a good late date for any football player. Note the pleased expression on Miss Amour's face as she smiled for the Tiger's photographer.

Extra Concert To Feature Daring Burlesquers In Field House Tonite

Affair Begins Eight O'Clock Will Date Corpse

By The Tiger Scooper

Madame Inez Collin's Burlesque Entourage of Seneca will appear at Clemson in the Field House tonight in the first premium attraction of the Clemson Concert Series, according to an announcement by Messer Gustavus E. Metz, chairman of the hooking committee, yesterday.

"The show is made up the most luscious livies ever collected outside of a harem," a spokesman for the committee said, "That's pretty good, sonny," Chuckled Madame Inez, "but that aint the way I heard it!"

Mr. Metz said that the program of the show included sixty-five beautiful girls and a master of ceremonies with a falsetto voice. The star attraction is Mademoiselle Mystery, whose identity becomes known only as she unmasks. "She is the greatest of all teasers, strip-or otherwise," the publicity director, Joseph Sherman, said, (Ed. note: Serman sould know!)

Te Program

Te gigantic, tupid and colossal production will open promptly at eight, wen te chorus slides in to the stage on a large reproduction of a silk sheathed maidens leg. Then they will put on a little skit of deserted lovers. "He Done Us Wrong" or "John Couldn't Come Again."

The rest of the program will cover the usual leg art and bumps stuff that is the usual stuff. Nevertheless, the whole cadet corps and all faculty members except Dr. Rupert Taylor are expected to be on hand. Dr. Taylor explained that e couldn't come because e ated women anyway, and after all, he was getting a little behind in his work.

The finale of the evening will be the singing of the old German college song, Mein Kampus.

Long roll, according to Commandant Herbert Manchester Pool, has been moved up to one-thirty A. M. in order to make it possible for all of the cadets to obtain late dates with the cast. "I'm sure Colonel Ross will see that an orderly evening's enjoyment will be had by all," Colonel Pool said.

Whiteman Unable To Provide Hits For Taps Dances

"Due to circumstances beyond my control, we will not be able to have Paul Whiteman for Taps Ball as was originally planned," said CDA president Rhame Guyton yesterday. "In his place, we have arranged to have the Philadelphia Philharmonic."

"Dey oughta be killers," said Guyton. "It'll be the only thing of the kind we've had here since Jackson Beergarden and his band. The orchestra has arranged several numbers especially for us, among which are Short Stories From A Vienna Woods, the Rock song from Alcatraz, Gosh, But You Need A Hair Cut, from Samson and Delilah, and the Cuspidor song from Carmen." The drinking song from Tanhauser will be played at the special request of the senior council, he added.

The Philharmonic group is world famous for its swing interpretations, and should prove a big drawing card for the series. Featuring a drummer that goes wild at jam sessions of the organization, the group should prove far more popular than the Viennese String Ensemble, who played for

Pierce Arrow Sets Deadline For Class Dues

The deadline for the senior class dues was today set by Senior Class Prexy Pearce for September 5, 1940. The deadline was shortened because of the rapid response on the part of the senior class in paying up the dues so rapidly. In setting the deadline Pexy Pearce also announced that the class project, for which the money will be used, will be the purchase of a pair of pruning shears to cut the ivy vines away from the Thomas Green Clemson Statue.

Simmons Named Cadet Colonel By Pool

New Colonel Will Take Over Duties Tomorrow A. M.

Mitchell Simmons, textil chemistry senior from Greer, was this week named Cadet Colonel of the Clemson brigade, to fill the unexpired term vacated yesterday as a result of a late date last week at the music brawl that caused ensuing complications, according to Colonel Herbert M. Poole, commandant. Simmons will take over his new duties today.

In making the selection, Colonel Pool had this to say. "I honestly feel that Colonel Simmons will execute his new duties in a straightforward and unbiased manner. The competition was keen for the position but because of wonderful disciplinary record during his stay at Clemson, Simmons was selected. During his four years here Colonel Simmons has received a total of five demerits, which breaks all precedent at the college."

When asked to comment on his good fortune Simmons said. "It is the most happiest moment of my life. From the first day on the campus it has been my ambition to rate in a military way at Clemson, and today it came true. I'm overwhelmed."

Colonel Simmons today signed a bill to revise the regulation governing the student body. "In the past he has been a marked lack of discipline at Clemson and I intend to make the regulations more strict in the future."

One of the first changes in the regulations will be to require all day cadets to meet long roll and reveille.

I hate war, communists and to pay bills.

The Bride of Frankenstein

This is a picture of interest to everyone as it is of great Historical interest. Robert Taylor is cast as Frankenstein and Shirley Temple is his bride. The action of the story takes place in England during the reign of Queen Elizabeth (Played by Ann Rutherford) and concerns the forced marriage of Shirley as a matter of state. Rather than face this fate worse than death, Shirley commits sewer pipe, and Taylor marries Queen Elizabeth. (The lucky Dog!!)

Ima Nut, who left Clemson in '38 to pursue his education elsewhere, was back on the campus this week. Your inquiring reporter had a talk with him, the conversation of which was as follows:

"Well I'ma, where did you go after you left Clemson?"

"I went to Winthrop for three years." I was taken aback, surprised, and a little shocked. "But Winthrop is a girls school, I tosse at him."

"Ha!" he replied, "I know, but I did not find that out until I went out for the swimming team."

Pillmaster Puts A Premium On Pills

Dr. Plea Pillford, Pillmaster of the local pillery, announced this week that none but stretcher cases will be accepted at the College Hospital from now until the end of school. He explained that with the yearly military inspection coming on, undoubtedly many cadets would be desirous of using the hospital as a dodge for missing the important military functions which accompany the Spring season.

For this reason, only patients with severe maladies will be accepted at the hospital for medical attention. Fractures, smallpox, and broken heads are among the few ailments which will admit a cadet to the hospitality of the hospital.

Said Dr. (?) Pillford, "Every Spring the student body gets an unnatural donging for the comforts that the college hospital affords—rest, good food, care, and pills. Pills, Pills, Pills. I have tried to alleviate the situation every Spring, unsuccessfully, by threats of demerits, and room arrest, but to no avail. I have taken the only possible course. Only stretcher cases will be admitted at the pillery. Illegal use of a stretcher will carry a bust of 30 demerits and 60 days room arrest."

Freeman Invents Gadget; Gadget To Get Him Promotion

Ernie Freeman, the captain, has turned inventor. The gadget is a detector for catching after long roll shavers in the act. No detailed information has been received regarding the new invention but it is thought by reliable sources that the gadget resembles a radio.

The Tiger reporter in a interview with Freeman asked, "What are your intentions regarding the gadget?"

"It shall be used for personal reasons entirely, my work is so important to me that I need something of this nature to track down the culprits who violate the regulations."

Freeman is working hard for a corporal next year.

Mother Jake Colvin, president of Alpa Chi Psi, honor leadership fraternity, this week announced that a recommendation had been made to the authorities to the effect, that in the future, the hours between and including 12 midnight to 7 in the morning on dance week-ends will be designated officially as "late date formation". A bust of fifteen demerits will be given those members attending the dance who fail to meet this additional formation.

We Go On Record—

...Thish week (hic) The Tiger would like to (hic) go on record as (hic) being cred-ished with the (hic) following statement:
"Hitler is an old sho-and-sho."

Clemson Rises Up Against All Those Who Deny Their Rites—

The Tiger has long held its peace. But the time to strike has come. We members of the cadet corps have reached the limit of human endurance. In fact, a dog would stand for it.

For years the students have been free to drive their dates up to Cemetery Hill and park on this historic old site to discuss the ways of the world and other personal matters.

But now, at the very moment that democracies all over the world are being threatened by Tee-Totalitarian Powers dominated by unscrupulous war-mongers, all that is changed. For some traitor to the cause of democracy has decreed against this innocent pastime.

This heartless monster has erected a high wall and stout iron gates to keep the student body of Clemson from rendezvousing in their favorite spot.

The Tiger has appealed to the administration for aid to no avail. They turned a cold shoulder to our plea for succor.

So, in our indignation of this heinous violation of the sacred rights of youth in the spring, we have turned for aid to none other than Brigade Commander Colonel Nancy Coleman.

We are holding open a section for a late wire-photo of the action the good colonel takes for her beloved corps.

Portrait Of A Man—

Thoughts On Spring

From the appearances of the leaves on the trees, the grass on the ground, and various other projects of nature, Spring, love inspiring spring, is here.

Spring has come before. It came for our fathers. It came last year for us. And you. We admit that it turned—and still turns—our thoughts to the Zoo, Winthrop, and other sister colleges, and baseball—to mention only a few of our present deviations.

But in our moment—perhaps season—of weakness, males, we must remember that when we fall—we must fall lightly. Infatuation—which is the extent of college love, we think—is a fickle thing. Not, perhaps, for us, but for the females who, fables tell us, have been thinking of the things we are now thinking of for the past winter.

We think that we are dead serious in our renewed interest in the Zoo and other institutions we have mentioned above. But remember, suckers of the race, that spring is also the season of snakes. Female snakes, too.

We are inclined to write poetry. And what male is not in Spring? But we don't dare. We have experienced the bitter anguish of pouring out our heart to the only girl in the world—only to find that we were not the only male in the world.

We have experienced the helplessness of falling overboard—only to find that the only girl in the world had a life-preserver, when we did not. We have learned that they—the females—are very seasoned creatures in this love game. They seem to play it twelve months of the year; we only a few.

So when you have completely capitulated to the skirt at the Zoo, Winthrop, or Carolina, or Limestone, or Agnes Scott, or just any good girl—Well, remember that The Tiger told you. We warned you. But was there any use of telling you? Hell no, Sucker. But it is fun. Damn it—

Why We Did It

The time of the year has again come when we are supposed to let the blinds down and air our grievances of the past year.

We are supposed to be funny. We are supposed to be original.

We don't claim to be either. This is an April Fool's Tiger, and take it for what it is worth to you. If you think it is amusing—Laugh. If it is not—we hope that you will have changed your opinion before we return from spring holidays.

Whether we have accomplished our aim to entertain you for an issue or not, we have had fun. We have barred no holds. Now the rag is in your hands, burn it if you like, but be lenient on the staff who tried — perhaps vainly—to be humorous about the institution which we are dead serious about in our 29 other issues of the year.

If you are scanded in this issue, maybe you rated it. Maybe we thought the story humorous. Maybe we didn't. Maybe someone else will. If they don't we very likely wasted space.

Anyway, when this sheet reaches your hands we'll be at home explaining how we posed a certain picture which appears in this issue. And after the explanation, we hope that we have some time left to celebrate Spring Holidays. We like to think to that we think we will, anyway.

This is the picture of a group of CDA and social fraternity men with their dates on a trip to Pawley's Island where they are to have a house party week-end blowout. The affair is to be held this week-end, but the party left Friday in order to get there on time.

Shown helping his date, Miss Sadie Sidetree of Swiggletich, on the bus, a special job chartered for the occasion, is CDA treasurer Grover Henry.

Talk of the Town

By Mitchell Simmons

In spring a Tiger columnists' thoughts turn to thoughts of pring and April Fool's issues of the sheet (for further proof of that ask anyone what we've been raving about for the last week.)

Well, when a columnists' thoughts turn to an April Fool's issue they turn to practically nothing. And when they turn to practically nothing. And when they turn to poetry there just isn't anything to do but print his own stuff—and some stuff he has picked up around barracks.

These lines are glaring examples of what we have been discussing:

Spring has sprung—did you know that—

Well, what I mean is, let's end our spat.

Let's give up our feudin'—get back to Bliss,

Darling, why the hell feud, in weather like this

If she calls you to her bedroom in the wee hours of the night,

And through her half-closed eyelids

you detect a tell-tale light,

If her bosom heaves tumultuously like the tide upon the acean,

And her voice is soft and tremulous

betraying her emotion,

If her nostrils dilate widely with each panting labored breath,

And her shapely body trembles, as one might approaching death,

If she beseeches and implores you, as she grasps your trembling hand,

To alleviate her sufferings, the tortures of the damned—

TAHT'S ASTHMA!

If there were a hundred and one of you

Then I think I'd have a solution. I'd give one of you to each of your lovers true,

And keep you for my retribution.

You seldom hold my hand anymore,

You seldom kiss me at the door.

But in spite of it all, I'm not so so blue—

Because now I seldom ask you to.

My mind is full of books and college

But my throat is parched all very dry.

And would I trade this knowledge
For the alcoholic beverages—I'd only try.

Life, sweetheart, is very drear
When I dare not call you dear

But life, I guess, is all the Same
When I call you anymore.

I held your hand
when romance was mild

I kissed your lips
when romance was wild,

I kissed you frequently
While our romance grew.

Now I don't kiss you at all romance just blew.

Must you snuggle so close, little elf.

Why not be your usual frigid self?
I'll carry you home not too late

To keep (without this farce) your your usual late date.

When bubble dancers' balloons go boom

Embarrassment is quite sure to loom.

The dancer must face the facts of life squarely

But what's embarrassing is facing them barely.

If you can resist the gleam of her eye,

The appeal of her lips—the warmth of her hand.

If—what's the hell's the use—why try.

Why be a mouse—be a man if you can.

CHEMISTRY NOTES

Special leased wire (Have to get news via wire, nobody on the staff will go down; you know, the smell)

Leroy Sippinscotch has come up out of the cellar—at last. The sophomores are happy about the whole thing, and Hizzoner can eat ice cream without smearing it all over his face trying to find his mouth in the murk and smoke of the lower regions.

Felix Katzburg has moved down in the cellar—for obvious reasons. Dr. Katzburg, local authority on distillation and stills, has opened up a plumbing establishment in the basement. Said he, "We expect to plumb the depths, and still around."

Private Wootsie Funter will enter army service in June, and will be sent to Berlin to smoke Adolf out. Wootsie is a chemical warfa-tist, and as such is an expert at throwing out a smoke-screen. The war department is going to loan him to the British in exchange for Canada. He will go to Germany to fog the Germans instead of the rats. The whole scheme may fail through because of Wootsie's reluctance to procure and wear the regulation brown shoes. He insists that the grey suedes are "good for four more years."

Dr. F.U.L.L. Crock, local meteorologist, was observed walking through the rain soaked to the skin—no umbrella or raincoat. As he plodded along, doc muttered to himself, "Beautiful day, sun's out just like I predicted."

Instructor Im Bing Follered, member of the staff, took last week off and spent the time giving his bers (iris) a Spring going over. During his absence his classes were taken over ably by Dr. Dewey, who ordinarily acts as consulting expert to the faculty.

Dr. Jeeter L. Corrodedemos is busy these days in an extensive analysis Italian spaghetti. Jeet predicts that his researches will reveal the true facts—that it makes Italians run, in the wrong direction.

Clemson To Hold Regatta On Seneca River

BY LARRY COKER

There was a time when the serious was the order of the day, but such times are no more—in other words—it's APRIL FOOL. The names in the following drive are purely fictitious, and any similarity to any person, living or dead, reputed athlete or no, is merely intentional. The opinions expressed herein are those that have been selected from the thousands of applications which have flooded our offices during the past fortnight, and hence we bear no responsibility but, enough for that—before you assume a belligerent towards our attitude, we must get on to the business of bringing to you the highlights, and the sidelights from the sports front of dear old Potowatome. To accomplish this end we change our manner of presenting the news and with this in view—we present—

Sally's Sallies—Of much interest to the many friends and relatives of our own dear distinguished, disturber-of-dope-buckets, danglin Boe Jaylock, is this bit of spot news that the great one will be heard in a joint recital with Miss Dolly Belle Fwitts as a warmer-upper for the weekly meeting of the Ladies Aid Society to be held in Hobinscwarf's emporium by the Seneca next Thursday morning. The young pair Fwitts and Jaylock are very popular here and—they sing and play the Bull, respectively. Important because it's real—When Blalock hit one out against Michigan State with two on to tie the score at all in the season's opener Tuesday, Coach Howard offered to repeat the treat (?) that he bestowed on the Mighty One after the past season's Furman-Clemson football game.

At Greenville, Howard rushed onto the field after the game and kissed Joseph after Blalock had caught a pass and lateraled to Aubrey Rion for 55-yards and the score that cinched the Tiger victory. Anyway when Blalock sent the ball on its way high over the left field fence to score three runs and put Clemson back into the ball game it seems that Howard felt like repeating the Furman episode, and offered to perform—Blalock declined.

Our readers seem to think that Clemson's intramural Director Sneddy Firchner's latest turn is a most important one. They all agree that what Clemson men need is more and better knitting. The new sport boasting such able thimblemen as Will Bipey, P. D. Goyd, the Bonway Comet, Turnin Tarley Timmmmons, and Mac Norwoveen, has already established itself as a definite threat to Stanford's supremacy at the embroidering hoop. The team which is to be known as Firchner's fancy Kro-Shayers has a thirteen match schedule beginning next Tuesday when Florida's Gator Needleman come here. Sneddy is all excited over the new sport which promises to replace football in the hearts of all IPAY members.

Nods 'n Ends—The form display by Tiger pitcher Nicholas Von Benito Antonio Gianpovlivich in the one-hit victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a spring training game recently reminds us of the days when Nick was in his prime with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Poplovich's best season in 1893 netted him 27 wins against 2 defeats. His only trouble now is keeping out of the army—word has it that Mussolini has called Nick back to Italy where he will be made a corporal in the Italian army. We always knew he was a military genius...

Boaters By Same-- Will Float On Waters Of Seneca

Freddy Kirchner, director of intramural athletics, announced today that the Spring program of intramural sports would get under way immediately after vacation. Along with the usual program there will be a regatta held on the Seneca River.

Mr. Kirchner has procured two eight-oared shells for the events and has gone to a great deal of trouble and expense to have them in top notch condition. All members of the Cadet Corps are eligible for the remaining open berths. At present he does not have a full boat, but the following have signed up already: Sunshine Allen, Stroke; Sticks Riley, No. 7; Jack DesPortes, No. 6; Bill Awirey, No. 3; Jim Mixon, No. 2; Jack McCarthy, No. 1; Lightsey, Coxswain. This leaves two seats open in the number one boat and the entire number two boat is yet to be filled.

Several different combinations will be tried, and a first and second crew chosen which will enter inter-collegiate meets. A practice meet is scheduled for the fifteenth of April with an All-Veteran All-Faculty crew consisting of: Stroke, Jughead Harris; No. 2 Sug Gage; No. 3 Big Ben Goodale; No. 4 Colonel Hufford; No. 5 Doc Sheldon; No. 6 Misery Holmes; No. 7 I. P. Orens; bow, Doc Taylor. This crew has been very fortunate in obtaining the services of one of the best coxswains to appear at Poughkeepsie in the last twenty-five years, one Bill Lipincott. Bill is the sort of a man that adds the much needed punch to such an unusual crew. Doc Sheldon, about the best of the lot, stroked the University of Washington to three national titles in succession.

Those aspiring to the open coxswain position should get in touch with Ernie Freeman, who has been appointed by Mr. Kirchner, to learn the various cadences necessary. Freddie himself will undertake to coach the crew and daily practices will be held at three o'clock. Pop Bates has consented to permit the boys to use his yacht club as a training and dressing room. Pop will administer, as he sees fit, rubbing alcohol to sore muscles and sprains. (Due to the dampness of the sport several have been shown to develop serious throat conditions which will also need the proper remedies.)

One mile and a quarter and two mile courses will be laid out by the regatta committee. This will be a student-Faculty committee made up of: Tee Smith, Pinkney Eve, Monk Godfrey, Prof. Reed, and Chairman, Lord Collings. The committee is sure that the sport will create a great deal of interest at Clemson, and feels that we are extremely fortunate in having the Seneca River so close at hand as it is an ideal location.

Wedlock Taylor Leads Languages In Triumph

Doc Tyler lead the English department to an easy victory over the Ag Dept., in a faculty inter department basketball game last night, and thus they captured the much desired faculty crown. Doc rung up 22 points to lead both teams, and was high scorer for the entire tourney. The English boys had a fast breaking, fighting contingent that never slowed down, but piled the score up to 65 points against 37 for the Ag men. Frog Wear did a very good job by holding Dude Grain to 3 points, which is less than the Dude has scored in any game thus far. Lord Collings could not keep up with Tyler's feints and fakes, and was forced to leave the game at the end of the first period because of the pace set by Doc. Kindheart, of English, provided some of the needed color when he tangled with Big Ben Goodale and both were ousted from the game.

Major Martin and I won't be here Monday.

Tiger Toughies Learn How To Be Tough-Win Games

Clemson has a new slant on ways to play football it was learned by grapevine today. The team has experienced some trouble with the ruffians from other institution and measures have been taken to stop some of the roughness going on in the line when the Tiger play any other teams that like to play unethical football.

Coach "Marbletop" has devised a scheme by which he can remove any of the above opponents by a painful but effective method. Realizing that camouflage is playing a big part in the undoing of the world, he ordered an oversized shirt for tonymite "Sunshine" Allen and in contemplating what to do with the shirt he decided that concealing a man on "Shine" with some kind of weapon should prove very effective in the line.

One of the most brutal men on the campus was called to the colors and the Head announced that Max Lightsey would now be a member of the squad this coming season. Max is equipped with a two pound blackjack and as he maneuvers Allen into position, this sleep dealing weapon is used with the dexterity of a bigtime thug. Last week the method was tried out on Frills Cagle. It was learned today that Cagle will live but he will never be the same in years to come.

Some trouble has been encountered in the play however, because of the hair on "Sunshines" bosom. Max explained that these objects nearly drove him crazy while in motion. A good pair of hedge clippers were secured and now the team is free to clean up on other teams in this strange but very effective method.

Icers Get Hot-- Win Heat And Crown As Well

Clemson's outstanding Mockey team annexed the Southern Conference Crown for the first time in the history of the school. The cagers, under the leadership of Coach Goat MacMullen were the first team ever to represent Clemson on the ice, and proved that they possessed the necessary amount of natural ability.

Drop-shot Crouch put in several stellar performances, and was voted the best defense man in the Southern Conference. Crouch will long be remembered for his resounding board checks, which were dreaded by every wingman to oppose him. Clemson's goalie Mama Hambrick turned in 156 consecutive minutes of perfect goal tending, to shatter a long standing Conference record.

On the offence our sextet had trouble keeping six men on the ice due to the fact that Roy Rearce and Ed Gross spent most of their time in the penalty box for using unethical tactics. In spite of this we had one of the fastest lines in organized hockey. In the final game of the play-offs our two ruffians were released from the penalty box with but two minutes to go, and they were able to score the necessary three goals to eke out a 3-2 victory over F. U.

A recent survey by the California Highway department revealed that cigarette butts make a better surfacing material for roads than asphalt. Hoboes Denny and Caughman advocate the idea.

Great McFadden Deserts Gridders To Study Dance

"Bunk" McFadden, Clemson's All America Drawback, announced this week that he has turned down all offers of professional football for next year. McFadden announced that he will join the Ballet Russe, known also as the Ballet de Monte Carlo.

"I have always wanted to take my place along side Najinsky. In fact, all during my football career (was I good or was I good) I have tried to wor Ballet steps in with my running. Why, that touchdown I made against Carolina was made by a Foutette Pirouette, while my crossing to marker against Navy was greatly aided by a Jette a cote.

McFadden can be seen out on Riggs field most any day working out wit the boys. If you should seem him making queer passes in the air, and leapfrog about, you will just be seeing him practicing his Entre Chat huits and Ronde de jadbres. Colonel Hurkov, head of the Ballet Russe, had announced that McFadden's name has been changed to Stanislov Bankoskivitch Mc Faddenowsky.

Tankers Get New Device -- Tank It Is Much Too Hot

By FISH GREEN

Clemson's swimming coach has just announced to the public that his swimming team will break all records this coming season by the use of new invention that has perfected after many years of study and research.

Coach Percival Binghampton Grabenscroff installed the device on one of his tankmen and the announcement has just come out that a berth is open on the team for the victim was not acquainted with the marvelous invention and the control that is needed to guide it while in operation. The hapless tester has not been recovered as yet and mining operations will start next week near the north end of the mess hall in hopes that the human rocket passed under ground thereabouts.

Not much is known about the construction and performance of the motor, but observers say the first victim hit the south end of the swimming pool so hard that Frederick Ketchnuty's feet was knocked off of the desk in the intra-mural office.

Coach Grabenscroff said the Sprintalian government has offered to buy this motor to use in their campaign against Grease. The Sprintalian minister explained that crossing bridges took up too much time and that this device would eliminate the slowing down of his troops when they come to a river. However, this modest inventor declined the offer because he wishes to keep the invention at Clemson for his swimmers.

The motor is installed near the stern and all the operator has to do is arch his body and hit the water every now and then. Control is very difficult on the turns and here it becomes necessary for the swimmer to drag a foot in the direction he wishes to go.

Tryouts will be held next week at Lake Isaqueena, and spectators are requested to stay behind the barricade built for them, for as Coach Percival Binghampton, Grabenscroff says, its an up and coming thing.

General Science School To Hold Fair

12,000 To Be On Hand For GS Exposition

By EARL MAZO

Next week end thousands of dis-interest people are expected to gather to witness the first successful General Science Day, which will last from reveille Friday morning until Taps Sunday night. The twelve thousand expected visitors will be treated to an inside view of the working of the general science school and will be allowed to inspect the work that the students are supposed to be doing.

Newly elected Chairman-of-the-Day Bill Hall announced that great preparation is under way for the exhibits. "Students," he said, "are forgoing sleeping in class in order to perfect a more interesting technique."

The first and most interesting exhibit will be a demonstration of the way general science school gets most of its students.

A guide will escort visitors through the Registrar's office, where numerous students can be seen dropping engineering, chemistry and dairying courses and changing to general science. This office is known to the G. S. Profs as the Metz Recruiting Station Number One.

Next on the program will be demonstration of how boys sleep without the professor's knowledge. This exhibit will feature the behind the book method where a student slumps down behind the desk with a large book held in front of his face. Another novel method is the thinking method, where the stupe sits with his mug in his hand, pretending to be in deep thought, while in reality he is deep in slumber.

The throng of thousands of visitors will then be taken to Doc McCollums Drug Store, where the hundreds of G. S. boys will be seen reading "up on international affairs and studying the joke books so they will have something to talk about to keep professor Rhyme off the subject of French and German irregular verbs.

One of the finest exhibits in the light of interest will be the faculty exhibit, which features piles of colored chalk, signs which read "Pick your peak and climb," "A gentleman is always on his honor," "You can't saw with a hammer," and used wads of chewing gum by the bushel.

The final exhibit of the day will be a class in public speaking being conducted by the Dean Emeritus of the General Science school, Dr. David Wistar Daniel. This will show Doc giving himself a blowing up while the students try to look interested.

The ameoba hugs himself in the middle and then he's two other people.

Tiger's Three Act Drama—

Jail-Birds Make Bid For Freedom In Surprise Coup

"I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or I'll be damned if I won't go to Furman." With these stirring words did Kenneth Matheson, Clemson's most experienced prisoner and recognized leader of the jail birds, give the signal for the uprising of the "boys" last Saturday night. Matheson is only recently "out of stir" himself, and the uprising was thumped up purely from unselfish motives, plus the promise of a keg of beer and three gallons of corn.

"The likker, you understand, was only for the purpose of fighting off colds, so that I could better lead my unfortunate comrades to victory over the Big Eleven," Matheson said. "I had planned the revolt against the Big Ten, but now that second lieutenant Iooler has been added to the Brigade staff, we hadda fight him too."

The coup was successful mainly because of the excellent fifth column work by the corporal of the guard, Bo-rat Cappelman, who completely sabotaged the communications system. "It weren't nothin', really," modestly declared Cappelman between drinks. "Anybody wuddave did the same thing."

Matheson's first act after liberating the prisoners was to seek the aid of Mitchell Simmons, new cadet colonel, in a plan to provide free chasers in the barracks for the use of the boys on week days, and free whiskey for dance weekends. Gin may be substituted for whiskey upon special request, it was announced.

Dix Shows Lover A Shot In Belly Is Only Sign Of Love

Miss Dorothy Dix, the well known woman of Advice to the Love-lorn, visited the campus this week to give the cadets a few pointers on more polished methods of flinging woo.

Miss Dix requested that all the cadets come to her with their love problems. She was swamped.

Perhaps outstanding in said rush was Lover Sieg Holmes who had this to say.

"Miss Dix, I asked my little chicken for a little kiss, and she pulled out a six shooter and shot me in the stomach. Do you think she loves me?"

"Of Course," said Miss Dix cheerfully. "Why Sieg, don't you know that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach?"

Comrade Lever Calls Walkout And Other Rot

James Jefferson Lever, Comisarr of the Young Communists of America, has announced that he will hold a one man walk out on April 23 at eleven o'clock in protest against aid to Brittain. Lever, who has had his orders direct from the National Yout Congress, wo in turn gets its orders from Stalin, as been writing a series of articles denouncing by the Congress as smelling of Stalin. This was all part of his scheme to avoid suspicion among his fellow students. Lever has already started growing a beard, and will be in communicative form in time for the walk out.

Lever was delivering a most emotional speech last week to a group of his admirers and just anybody who would listen. As his voice reached its roaring climax, Lever roared.

"Comes de rabblelootion, the common piple will be eating strom-berry short cake, and the capitalists vill be eating blac bread!!!"

A voice was heard from the audience; "But I don't like straw-berry sort cake."

Lever exploded. "You'll eat strom-berry short cake and like eet!!!"

Calhoun Predicts Blizzard Shortly

Dr. F. H. H. Calhoun, dean of the school of chemistry, this week predicted an extreme cold wave for Clemson in the near future. Dr. Calhoun said that it would even be more severe than the freeze of 1898, when cows gave ice cream and boiling water froze so quickly that the ice would burn blisters on a person's fingers.

The blanket of snow is expected to cover Clemson about the week of December 20, 1941, the dean said.

Dairy Cleans Up On Ice Cream--- Cadets Gum Work

The Ag Fair went over big last end, according to Ag Chairman Marshall Walker.

The most popular exhibit was the Dairy Departments ice cream counter, where as much ice cream as could be eaten was sold for five cents. Wheelbarrows were kept in use all afternoon carting away the heavy eaters.

Sales were stopped when it was found that two cadets, H. H. Le-Master and a guy named Parler, weighing two-hundred and forty pounds and two-hundred and twelve pounds, respectively, had made a tunnel in the storage tanks by eating their way through. "We wouldn't have minded," said Boss Big Ben, "but they forgot to take off their shoes. That was unsanitary."

Seniors Thank Hitler For Jobs In Army

Men Appreciate Kindness Shown By Der Fuehrer

At a meeting of the senior class held in the college chapel last night, president R. Roy Pearce led the class in a mass exercise which proclaimed the indebtedness of the class to Herr Adolph Hitler, who recently arranged Army jobs for the entire class. Work begins early in June.

"Hitler is undoubtedly the greatest benefactor this class has ever had," Pearce said. "He has kindly arranged employment for all of us. I think that we should send him a token of our gratitude." His eloquent plea aroused great enthusiasm among the members of the class.

The only objection was voiced by one Robert Hempstead, who shouted, "Let's take 'em to him!" These present soon browbeat the offender into silence, it was said. Continuing the speech, Pearce said, "Where would we be but for Uncle Adolph? Why, we would be roaming the streets and loitering in pool rooms. Our wives and children wouldn't have a crust to eat."

At this point the audience was moved to tears by the logic and fluent oratory of the speaker. Two of Pearce's Football Guards, iron men of his party, escorted strong man Warren Wilson from the chapel. "I can't stand it," Wilson said, as tears rolled down his cheeks. "I'm going home and pray for Dear Adolph!"

The classmen voted to send Hitler a plaque depicting a rare view of a horse, with an inscription which adequately expresses their sentiments.

"ORDERLY this field is wet," said Colonel Hufford to his new stooge Max Lightsey upon looking over Bowman field last week Preparatory to a parade announced by the brigade staff. We agree with this profound observation, especially since the said brigade staff met the parade in row boats. The regimental staffs used life preservers, and the battalion staff boys hung on to them for dear life. Only eleven cadets were drowned, however, so the parade may be considered a huge success. Any cadet who couldn't swim was just out of luck, according to DeWittless.
